TENURE-TRACK FACULTY POSITIONS

New England Law | Boston invites applications from candidates for tenure-track assistant professor positions to begin in the fall 2025 semester. We seek to hire individuals who are interested in teaching foundational courses, particularly Civil Procedure, Contracts, Property, and Torts, and upper-level courses in the areas of Administrative Law, Business Organizations, Commercial Law, Family Law, and Tax Law. Applicants must possess a J.D. from an accredited U.S. law school or an equivalent degree, and must demonstrate a commitment to excellent teaching and strong scholarly potential.

Located in downtown Boston, New England Law is noted for providing a welcoming community and early access to practical experience. Founded in 1908 as Portia Law School, the only law school established exclusively for the education of women, our institution has been coeducational since 1938.

Individuals interested in applying for a position should submit a letter of application, a résumé or curriculum vitae, a detailed statement of interest including teaching and research interests, and the names and contact information of three references. These materials should be submitted to the Faculty Appointments Committee, via email to Deansoffice@nesl.edu, with the subject line “Assistant Professor Application.”

The Faculty Appointments Committee will begin reviewing applications as they are received and applications will be accepted until the positions are filled.
